ACE NEWS

It has been another unprecedented year, although nurseries stayed open in the UK throughout the 2020/21 school year. Touch wood, we haven't had to close at all and we owe huge thanks to staff, parents and children for doing everything they can to keep the ACE community safe.

We were sorry not to hold any in person social events this year but very much hope we can reconnect with you next summer at a bumper Teddy Bears' Picnic.

In recent weeks it has been a delight to recommence outings into the local community as well as forest school sessions. The Cows about Cambridge art trail has provided much inspiration at the Nursery School and we are grateful to ACE alumni for sending in the photos shown on the cover.

Perhaps the most significant news to bring you in this edition is that Lindsey is retiring as Deputy Headteacher of the Nursery School this summer. She has served an incredible 26 years at ACE, making her the third longest serving staff member of all time (after Sally West, Deputy before Lindsey who clocked up 28 years, and Paula Watson, previous Headteacher for 27 years). We like to think that if you get what ACE is about, you stay! Please read on for an interview with Lindsey, reflecting on more than quarter of a century at ACE.

Congratulations go to Gemma, the Nursery School's new Deputy Headteacher with effect from September when Lindsey retires. Gemma joined ACE in September 2003 after completing her CACHE Level 3 Diploma in Childcare and Education.

In 2008 she embarked on a further qualification, studying part-time for a BA in Early Years with the Open University, and graduated in 2014. Gemma has now been working at ACE for 18 years and has been Third-in-Charge for most of the last decade. We're also delighted to report that Diana has been appointed Third-in-Charge from September. Most of Diana's six children attended ACE and after volunteering with us for a while, Diana joined the team as a staff member eight years ago. She is now lead SENCo (Special Educational Needs Co-ordinator) and was the first practitioner in the county to achieve the new level 3 award for SEN in early 2021.

We're pleased to report that despite the difficulties of the last year, the latest group of four year olds at ACE are ready to transition to school and we wish them well in the next phase of their lives.

As ever, we positively encourage contact from ACE alumni and their families at any time. We are pleased to reconnect this time with Julia Eisen, a committee member from a number of years ago, and Jade Hill, who was a member of staff at the Day Nursery from its establishment in 2004 until 2019.

At the Nursery School, we have created an allotment in the area of the garden where the swings used to be. They were nearing the ends of their lives and with everyone spending more time at home because of lockdown, this sparked a new passion for gardening amongst a number of staff who were then keen to share this with the children. In true

ACE style, it was a team effort to make the allotment happen with parent volunteers dismantling the old swings, building planters, delivering compost and donating seedlings. The children made two scarecrows, named Betty and Harry.

The Cows about Cambridge art trail inspired Big ACE staff and children to make their own "midi moo" (half way between the size of the large fibreglass cows and the mini moos designed by local community groups) out of recycled materials. It was subsequently named Aqua by the children, given the number 91 (given there are 90 cows in the trail) and taken for a graze on Parker's Piece to meet the cows nearest to ACE.

Meanwhile at the Day Nursery, we recently celebrated our 17th birthday.

Sarah Piotrowski has been there since the start and has been Day Nursery manager for the last 13 years. In January 2021, she moved to four days per week, with Hanna, Natalie and Paulina all stepping up a level one day per week.

Natalie led a wonderful World Book Day and everyone, including the staff, made a huge effort to dress up; we all enjoyed a day filled with story books and acting out our favourite characters.

The Gruffalo by Julia Donaldson was a big favourite, so Natalie spoke to Sharon - our cook - and we had Gruffalo crumble and owl ice cream for pudding on World Book Day. On the creative table we had some play dough and the children used coloured pipe cleaners for purple prickles, lollipop sticks for tusks, and black and orange pom poms for eyes and warts!

Face painting was popular and Amy skilfully managed to fulfil most requests! Just before tea, Sharon set up a table and invited everyone over to choose their own cracker topping. Using the cheese, fruit and vegetables everyone had a really good go at making a face. We then all enjoyed our crackers for tea and pretended the tiger came for tea! Paulina finished with a hungry caterpillar made from plain buns and fruit.

The Day Nursery welcomed a new staff member, Laura, onto the team in March. Laura is from Santander in Northern Spain and has lived over here for five years. After working as an au pair and in some temporary childcare positions, Laura was employed at a Montessori nursery for three years before joining ACE. She enjoys yoga, dancing to latin music and cooking.

The girls and boys helped Hanna to make a 'dragon' as part of our Chinese New Year celebrations. Hanna shared a traditional Chinese dragon with the children so they could paint similar patterns and colours. After two days of busily creating our dragon, we were ready to dance to a song that Hanna found about Chinese New Year. We practised a dragon dance and song every day at group time.

ACE Parents' Committee

Committee meetings have been held via Zoom all year, which has worked well – enabling members to join in from home, work and even holiday on the odd occasion. It has been wonderful to have two ex-ACE attendees on the committee this year (Liam and Angharad). Thank you to everyone for all your time and commitment in what has been a challenging period (especially when, against the odds, nurseries were asked to stay open in January despite no testing or vaccinations for staff at the time).

A special thanks to Liam for staying on as Treasurer even though his second child left ACE last summer to go to primary school. We're hoping his third child will enroll at ACE when old enough to do so. It's been great to have such continuity on the financial front. We're also extremely grateful to non-committee member Rob Boland (father of Callum, Freya and Jamie) who is constantly updating the ACE website.

Leavers' Fund

In July 2015 Natasha, a Parent Committee member at the time, suggested a leavers' fund to raise funds for resources at both nurseries - a legacy from one set of ACE children to another - and since then we have raised over £3,000 at the Nursery School and more than £900 at the Day Nursery. Last year's leavers donated an extremely generous £1,005 at the Nursery School with which we were able to buy lots of items including new sleep/yoga mats and equipment for a sensory room. At the Day Nursery, £325 was raised and this has been spent largely on a bespoke home corner.

Shiri and Anna, from the Committee, have recently contacted parents about the idea of a 2021 leavers' fund and we're delighted to announce that £1,085 has been raised to date at the Nursery School. One donation was specifically for Mantra Lingua resources, including a talking pen which can read dual language books in a wide variety of pre-programmed languages as you hold the pen over the pages of the book.

The Day Nursery leavers' fund has just been launched for 2021 and we look forward to updating you with progress on this in the next newsletter.

Bursary Fund

As you are probably aware, ACE has had a bursary fund for many years, which provides help to parents with fee payments in certain situations. We were delighted to be contacted this year by the mother of two children who came to ACE some time ago (the oldest child is in their late 20s now) who received help from the fund at the time and would now like to make a donation to assist someone else. We were touched that the parent would think to do this in the middle of a pandemic and so many years after her children left ACE.

Staff News

Lindsey Johnson is retiring as Deputy Headteacher of ACE Nursery School this summer after an amazing 26 years at ACE. We interviewed her ahead of her departure...

Are you the longest serving member of staff in ACE history?

No – my predecessor as Deputy Head, Sally West, was at ACE for 28 years and Paula Watson, Headteacher before Lisa, was here for 27 years.

What are the main changes you have seen at ACE over the years?

There is much more paperwork now, although just as I leave the profession that is changing. The new

Early Years Foundation Stage guidance from September recommends less paperwork and more time spent with the children, which I wholeheartedly agree with! After I qualified as a nursery nurse, there were no ongoing training opportunities. That has all changed and now there is an excellent range of professional development opportunities for Early Years staff.

There are more staff now as the adult/child ratios have increased over the years – we have eight staff working with the children compared to four when I started plus a student, for the same number of children. Initially it was Paula, Sally, Rachel and me plus a student.

Did you always want to work with children?
Yes but I also wanted to be a midwife. As I've been at the birth of five of my grandchildren, I feel I have now ticked this box to some extent, particularly because at one of the births the duty midwife turned to me at one point and asked if I was a qualified midwife as I seemed to know what I was doing!

What did you do before ACE?

I was born at home in Newnham, grew up in Cambridge and after qualifying as a NNEB at CCAT (Cambridge College of Art & Technology) worked at a social services run nursery. Then I did some childminding when my own three children were young before working part-time at a day nursery in Chesterton set up by someone I trained with; my children came with me. I worked at Butterfly day nursery for about 18 months but with my children going to school I really needed a term-time role. I saw the job at ACE advertised in the Cambridge Evening News, applied and the rest is history! I instantly felt as if I had come home. The way that ACE looked after children was the same way that I looked after children.

Have some of your children and/or grandchildren attended ACE?

All six of my Cambridge based grandchildren (by my two daughters) have been to ACE; the eldest is now 17 and the youngest is leaving ACE for reception this summer. My other grandchildren are nursery school age and live near York with my son and daughter-in-law.

What particular memories stand out from your 26 years at ACE?

Having to move out of Parkside for underpinning work in 2000. I still remember being called to the staff room to meet the then Chair of the ACE Parents' Committee and Paula to be told we needed to move for a year and I didn't know if I would have a job (this was a big worry with three children to support). Rachel handed in her notice to go off and study psychology at Brighton which was a shock as well - we got on extremely well (and sadly she later died - too young - of cancer). We relocated to what is now Little ACE in Priory Road for one year but it was touch and go whether we would find the right premises until fairly last minute. In those days we had a younger and older group of children at ACE. The older children went off to school and we took the younger group to 6A Priory Road; we didn't recruit any more children that year as there wasn't space for any more in the smaller building. Before the move we would walk the children over to Priory Road with a few toys to get everyone used to the idea of being there. It was Paula, Sally and me plus a student with 20 children. The building was in a fairly rough state and not set out as it is now. The front door opened into what was our art room (there was no kitchen) and there was an outdoor spiral metal staircase up to the office and staffroom. That said, we loved the year working on one level and decided we shouldn't give up the building. The Day Nursery was born! The property was completely renovated before it opened as ACE Day Nursery. I remember Sarah Piotrowski coming for her interview and being appointed deputy manager, with Emma as the manager.

When we returned to a refurbished Parkside, we had a kitchen in the basement for the first time and it was warm. The storage heaters were replaced by central heating and everything had been carpeted. The garden had been revamped - previously it was just mud - but now we had a circular path as you see it today. The idea for the kitchen had come to Paula and me when we were invited round to one of the parents' houses nearby for an ACE social evening in their wonderful basement kitchen. Before that the basement at no. 37 was not pleasant; it was bare brick with a committee cupboard and not much else.

Another clear memory I have is of Paula telling us she was leaving. We were sat around after the children's Christmas party enjoying a few snacks when everyone had gone home and she made her announcement. I was shocked and wondered who could take over. I was asked to be part of the interview panel for the new Headteacher; we interviewed three candidates and instantly knew that Lisa was the right person for ACE.

I remember the annual tradition of Monique (Headteacher prior to Paula) coming in every Christmas to read stories to the children at the party.

Two more unusual memories are of the flying nun and the missing student! A group of nuns visited us from Japan through a connection with one of the parents. One of the nuns was quite petite and wearing her habit, went out to play with the children in the garden. She ended up chasing them round the garden – and I can still visualise this flying nun!

We often had students at ACE and on one occasion I remember us realising that our latest recruit seemed to have gone missing. After a bit of a search he was found in the staffroom strumming a guitar and saying that sometimes he just had to make music!

What have you enjoyed most about working at ACE?

Well that would have to be all of the wonderful children, staff and very supportive parents. Not everyone is fortunate enough to work with such a strong team of staff; we are all like-minded in wanting the best for all of the children. I think ACE is one of those places that if you get it, you want to stay.

I always enjoy taking children on trips out of the setting. Our regular visits to see the dinosaurs at the Sedgwick Museum, Encore concerts at St Andrew's Street Baptist Church and Cherry Hinton Hall are particular favourites. I remember an ACE trip many years ago to Shepreth Wildlife Park; we decided to go by train and after a lovely visit the group made its way back to the station. The train pulled in and most of us got on board before the doors shut, but one member of staff (Rachel) was left on the platform with two or three children. Some of the children on the train started to cry and Paula pulled the emergency cord but the train didn't brake. Rachel bought the children ice creams and British Rail organised a taxi to bring them back to ACE, so all worked out well in the end.

You have an enviable reputation for calmly and patiently looking after young children. What are your top tips?

I think I must be quite a calm person – it's just the way I am. I always try to empathise with the children and their parents/carers to understand how others might be feeling and then treat them accordingly.

You seem to have a particular skill in sharing rhymes with children. What particular favourites do you have and why?

Rhymes, songs and stories are such a great way of bonding with children – it makes them feel safe and secure. The children repeatedly ask for The Dinosaur Song, Little Mousey Brown and Find a Bin (which my children learnt at Brownies). With Mousey Brown, there's a point when the children cup their hands to their mouth and call for grandma several times; as many of my grandchildren have been to ACE, children are used to me being referred to as 'grandma' and in fact other children often call me grandma too! I like doing rhymes and they really help settle in the children as well as being fun. The children also know I love rhymes and whenever I make an appearance in the Puffin group (I'm usually with the Penguins) they ask me to do some straight away.

What are your favourite things about being a pre-school teacher?

Seeing the children flourish in the time they are at nursery. They leave us full of confidence and I really enjoy getting the four year olds ready for school.

What are your plans from September? What are you looking forward to doing?

I plan to finish decorating my house which has been on my 'to do' list for nearly two years. I am looking forward to seeing more of my family and travelling further afield when it's safe to do so. I've already agreed to do school pickups for my younger grandchildren on Fridays! My son lives in York with two young children so I am looking forward to being able to spend more time with them. One of my brothers lives near Swansea and is talking about moving to Inverness, so I'll also be going to Wales or Scotland, depending on where he is!

Are you in touch with ex-ACE colleagues?

I'm still in touch with Sally and plan to see more of her once I have time to do so. I also hear from Pam from time-to-time. I caught up with Sally and Paula at the Headteacher presentation a couple of years ago and we all enjoyed a coffee and cake together afterwards.

Do you have any advice for ACE going forward?

The ACE ethos has carried it through some tricky times; I'm sure it will remain the same. It's such a special place and I'm confident the staff who are here at the moment will strive to keep it that way.

Parents have sent in farewell messages to Lindsey, which we have made into a card. The parents of Lindsey's key children have clubbed together to buy her a gift, organised by Elisa's parents, Vanessa and Craig. We consulted with one of Lindsey's daughters to see what Lindsey might like as a retirement gift from ACE and were told that a hanging egg chair might be in order, although we've left it to Lindsey to choose the style/colour she would like and have it delivered to her home (rather than taking it home on her bike!) A current ACE parent, Frank (Lawrie's daddy) has painted a very special watercolour of Lindsey in the Big Room at ACE on her birthday earlier this year, being given a gift by the ACE children (handed to her by one of the current ACE attendees who is her grandson). Huge thanks to Frank.

Three parents made cakes to celebrate Lindsey's last term-time day on Thursday 15th July (thanks to Samin, Musa's mummy, Liz, Arlo and Owen's mummy, and Jane, Leila's mummy) for your baking prowess. We shared one with Lindsey and the children, Lindsey took one home and then the third is to be enjoyed with the staff team on the cleaning day at the end of term. Lindsey would like to thank you all for the lovely messages you sent her.

ALUMNI INTERVIEWS

In this edition, we are delighted to share with you two interviews with Julia and Jade who both have a connection with ACE.

Julia Eisen

When did your children attend ACE?

Alexander came to Little ACE in 2006, when he was a year old and moved up to Big ACE a couple of years later; Imogen came to Little ACE in 2009, also when she was a year old, though instead of moving up to Big ACE when the time came, she moved to a nursery closer to Alexander's school.

Where are your children now?

To be precise, Alexander is currently in his bedroom, enjoying a rest after finishing his GCSEs in May! Imogen is in her last term at King's College School (year 8) and, I'm happy to say, able to enjoy a pretty full leavers' programme at the moment. We are keeping fingers firmly crossed that no Covid 'bubbles' will burst before the end of term.

What particular memories do you/does your child have of ACE? With a total of 4 years at Little ACE and only 1 at Big ACE, our strongest memories are inevitably of the Day Nursery: of the yellow gate, the welcoming room with its kitchen and play corner, nap time, the garden – and most especially the lovely staff - who have also been lovely babysitters over the years - keeping up the sense of connection. [Editor's note: Sadly it is no longer best practice for staff to babysit for children who attend the setting]

What were the best things about ACE?

The best things about ACE were the caring staff and the happy family community. Social interaction for the children and, let's face it, the fact that it gave me a break from 24/7 childcare.

What were your child's favourite activities?

Being something of a sentimental hoarder, I have kept most of the 'Daily Record Sheets' written out so carefully by the staff (and yes Marie Kondo, they do spark joy!!) It is so sweet to read back over them and be reminded of those baby and toddler years. Playing with - or in - the porridge oats and the 'home corner' seem to have featured large in Alexander's top activities, though my personal favourite is 'enjoyed watching the snow'. Imogen seems to have done a lot of dancing (she gets it from me...), talking to Bailey the rabbit and playing in the sand pit.

How were you involved with ACE eg co-op tasks, social events?

I was on the committee for most of the children's time at ACE, mostly doing the Newsletter, which I really enjoyed, though it was all rather primitive on the formatting front! I also helped out with social events and my last post seems to have been 'General Committee Aid', so who knows what that entailed...

What was the most enjoyable social event?

The pumpkin party stands out in my memory as being a lovely event, though it is from the Christmas Fairs that we have the most souvenirs: Alex still uses a glass that he decorated with – now invisible – festive daubs, ditto little glass tea light holders that come out every year with their sticky sequins.

How has lockdown/ the pandemic/ home schooling been for you and your family?

I think we have been lucky that lockdown caught us at a good stage in the children's development. They were old enough to cope with home schooling pretty independently (apart from the reams of photocopying), but not so old to find it unbearable being cooped up with mum and dad! We went for lots of walks on Stourbridge Common, ate al fresco in last year's sunshine, and worked our way through various TV series on iplayer or DVD – The Three Musketeers, Jeeves and Wooster, W1A, Death in Paradise... A highlight for me was the VE Day celebration where Imogen went to town decorating paper plates with Spitfires, making a 'Union Jack' jelly and creating a museum of wartime memorabilia in a pop up tent. She has a great ability to create a celebration at every opportunity: a joy in life that reminds me very much of the ACE ethos.

Are you still in touch with ex-ACE friends/work colleagues?

One of the lovely things about living in Cambridge is that it is like a village, so that even now I still come into contact with people I knew from ACE days. Just the other day I was introduced to a new(ish) school mum and we recognised each other as being fellow ACE parents over 10 years ago! So although I would say that the children's current friendships date from their school rather than nursery years, it is the wider sense of community and shared values and experience that I really treasure when I come across other members of the ACE family.

I'm one of the Green Badge guides who is doing some of the tours with 'Cows about Cambridge' this summer (click here for further information). There are plenty of trails for families to do and I think there is a cow by the Museum of Technology near Little ACE.

Jade Hill

Where do I start? My name is Jade and I joined ACE Day Nursery straight after finishing school in July 2004 as an apprentice training for my NVQ. Over the course of my time with ACE I did several different qualifications with my final one being my Level 5 Diploma.

In the wonderful 15 years I progressed from apprentice to Deputy Manager and I enjoyed it all. During this time, I had my son - in 2014 - and I was super happy that he would be coming back with me to join the ACE family. He thoroughly enjoyed his time spent at Little ACE with the amazing range of activities and staff.

I have some great memories from ACE, particularly all the social events that were held for both nurseries. I really liked attending these and getting to see all the families that had moved up to Big ACE and even the families who had left ACE altogether but still came to the summer picnic to keep in touch. My two favourite events were the summer picnic and the international breakfast.

Another memory I treasure is being able to organise regular visits to link up with Langdon House care home. Seeing the children interacting and playing with the residents and putting a smile on their faces was so heart-warming!

When my son was getting ready to start school, I had to say a sad goodbye to Little ACE to be closer to home. Since leaving in 2019 I have been working at a nursery close to home as the toddler room leader.

I am so grateful for the years I had at ACE, I truly believe they gave me the best start to my career in childcare!

Ella Dawidowski

Ella attended ACE from 2009-2012 and has recently returned to do some work experience. She has been a regular helper at Thursday afterschool club and will be at the first week of the summer holiday playscheme as well. She's a big hit with the children! Having twin younger sisters means Ella is a natural at playing with younger children!

If you are happy to be interviewed for a future ACE Alumni Newsletter, please do get in touch!

CO-OP HOURS

The ACE co-operative spirit lives on despite the pandemic. Artistic parents have been busy carrying on the tradition of painting ACE chairs, stools and tables with some delightful results:

ACTIVITIES

In this edition, we also share some ACE activities which you might like to try to do with the family during the summer months.

Activity 1 – Cows about Cambridge

Have you herd (sic)? As mentioned earlier in the newsletter, a ‘moo-vellous’ art trail is in Cambridge at the moment. Cows about Cambridge is a collection of 90 cow structures – all uniquely decorated by artists or local community groups – which are in Cambridge’s streets, parks, open spaces and shopping areas until 4th September. The inspiration for the event is the red poll cattle which graze the green spaces of Cambridge during the warmer months.

Activity 2 – Masking tape art

A simple way to decorate your garden path: use masking tape to create different shapes. Stick it to the path or patio and the children colour in the resulting shapes using chalks. Remove the tape and marvel at the design.

Activity 3 – Strawberry picking

A Puffin parent recommended Lidgate Farm on Prickwillow Road in Isleham CB7 5RG, “just show up, park and go to the counter to get a bag or container if you didn’t bring your own and then head off into the field to pick. It is cash only.”

Activity 4 - Yoga

Try some yoga moves. Diana put together a Smartest Giant in Town yoga worksheet which we would recommend.

Activity 5 – Dobble

Lindsey has shared the merits of the simple card game called Dobble – children of many levels can play the game; it develops observational skills and turn taking...and is so much fun to play! She's said the boys and girls at the Nursery School have been getting better and better at it, and it could be a game which siblings play together – maybe even long enough for you to have a quiet cup of tea!

Activity 6 –Playdough

The children are always keen for us to share the (non-edible) recipe we use for making fresh playdough each week; it is simple to do and lasts really well in a sealed container for a week.

Cooked Playdough

Ingredients:

- 3 cups of flour
- 1.5 cups of salt
- 3 tbs cream of tartar
- 3 tbs oil
- 3 cups of water
- Food colouring

Method:

1. Into a saucepan add all the ingredients (put the food colouring into the last cup of water you add).
2. Mix all the ingredients well and place on a low heat on the hob.

3. Keep stirring the mixture continuously; you may think after a little while that it is not working but keep going.
4. Once the mixture comes away from the sides of the pan and begins to form a dough, it is cooked; remove from the heat.
5. Bring together in a ball and allow to cool; the dough should last for 1-2 weeks if kept in an air tight container.

Aromatic Lavender Cloud Dough

We also have an aromatic (non-edible) recipe for Lavender Cloud Dough that Diana and the Penguins have made this year:

Ingredients:

½ bag of flour
4 drops of lavender oil
4 tbs of baby oil
2 tbs of powder paint
Flowers/petals/leaves (optional)

Method:

Mix all the ingredients together and enjoy the scent as you play!

Activity 7 – 50 things to do app

Cambridgeshire County Council has put together a “50 things to do before you are 5 app”, downloadable from your app store. It gives 50 ideas of low or no cost activities you can do with your child e.g. junk modelling, paper folding, natural art using stones etc. Many of the activities can be adapted for older children too. Click here for further information.

DO GET IN TOUCH

Please feel free to get in touch if you would like to share news, recipes, activities or be interviewed for the newsletter; we’re always pleased to hear from ACE alumni and their families, as well as former staff members.

We wish you a lovely summer. Stay safe!
